

Radar Gunner

Richard B. Dakeyne 2014

Copyright © Richard B. Dakeyne and David M. Welch 2014

This book is copyright. Apart from any fair dealing for the purposes of private study, research, criticism or review, as permitted under the Copyright Act, no part may be reproduced by any process without written permission from the publisher.

Published by David M. Welch

P. O. Box 503, Coolalinga, Northern Territory, 0839, Australia.

Fax (61) (8) 8983 1145

National Library of Australia Cataloguing-in-Publication entry:

Author: Richard B. Dakeyne

Title: Radar Gunner

ISBN: 978-0-9871389-6-5

Subjects: Dakeyne, Dick.

Australia. Royal Australian Air Force—Officers—Biography.

World War, 1939-1945—Aerial operations, Japanese.

Radar operators—Australia—Biography.

Radar operators—United States—Biography.

Aerial gunnery.

Other Authors/Contributors:

Bellamy, Craig, 1958- editor.

Welch, David M. (Maxwell), 1955- editor.

Dewey Number: 940.540092

Designed and typeset by Bruce Welch in 12 pt Adobe Garamond Pro.

Printed on 115 gsm Lumi Silk matt art, section sewn. Printed by Everbest Printing, China.

Cover photograph (top): Model of a World War Two Liberator with Australian markings, displayed at the Australian Aviation Heritage Centre (Darwin Aviation Museum). (Photograph: David M. Welch.)

Cover photograph (lower): Waist gunner position on the American B-24 Liberator, demonstrated by fellow serviceman Andy. (Photograph: Dick Dakeyne.)

Half Title Page photograph: "Self in glad rags, Mid-1944." Dick Dakeyne as a Flight Sergeant, wearing RAAF winter uniform jacket, and one of the American B-24 Liberator bombers, Sandra Kay, on which he served as both a waist gunner and radar countermeasures operator.