Shady Lady

Shady Lady - In production

We undertook the location filming in August on the Anjo Peninsular, Western Australia, 68 years to the day since Shady Lady was put down on the Kimberley saltpan under the command of First Lieutenant Doug Craig of the USAAF 380th Bomb Group. This was made possible by the support of the oil company PTTEP, ShoreAir and remarkable historians Lindsay Peet & Glenn Horton amongst others. The Collings Foundation, in the US, operating the only remaining B-24's flying today, allowed us to film on board the Liberator in September. The Darwin briefing scenes were shot last week in the UK! The awarding of a US Presidential citation to the Commander's wife, on behalf of the crew and support from the RAAF, make this a very exciting project for all.

Remote Airstrips - In production

We have now completed filming for the first 3 of our 26 minute 'Remote Airstrips' series: Truscott Airbase; Christmas and Cocos Islands, Australia. International locations are in development.

Flying Doctors - Complete (Australia) / Development

The 'Flying Doctors' is an international series on 4 continents providing an unparalleled view of rescue missions across vast and awe-inspiring environments. This is real life and you never know when YOU may need them.

Toxic Air Series - Completed

'Angel Without Wings' and 'Broken Wings' (both completed in 2011) tell the on-going story of what many call 'the asbestos of the skies'. If you fly as a passenger you need to know.....

Sydney/Emden - In production

The story of Australia's 1st naval victory in Indian Ocean in WW1 against the German Emden light cruiser, commanded by 'The Last Gentleman of War'

Spitfire Sisters & Air Transport Auxiliary (ATA) - Completed
